

Asian Journal of Public Relations

Instructions for Authors

Asian Journal of Public Relations (AJPR) is an international journal for academics and practitioners of public relations, published by the Korean Academic Society for Public Relations (KASPR). AJPR runs as an open-access journal because it values and supports knowledge sharing; however, it does not charge submission or publication fees.

AJPR aims primarily to publish scholarship that addresses and fosters the interconnections between theory and practice in public relations across multiple contexts. All theoretical and methodological approaches, including quantitative, qualitative, critical, historical, legal, or philosophical are welcome, as are all contextual areas.

AJPR covers a variety of research subjects related to the field of public relations. Topics include but are not limited to public relations theories or practices, such as media relations, government relations, community relations, employee relations (internal communications), investor relations (financial communications), corporate social responsibility, PR ethics, organizational communication, issues and crisis management, public campaigns (e.g., political, health, risk, science), and any other areas contributing to the advancement of public relations.

Authors are encouraged to submit original research manuscripts from a range of topics and methodological approaches. In addition to full-length research articles, AJPR accepts Research-In-Brief manuscripts and case studies. Manuscripts for consideration in AJPR should be submitted via <http://paper.ajpr.or.kr/html/>. Any inquiry for the submission may be submitted via email at ajpredit@gmail.com.

Our online submission system guides you stepwise through the process of entering your article details and uploading your files. The system converts your article files to a single PDF file used in the peer-review process. Editable files (e.g., Word) are required to typeset your article for final publication. As part of the Your Paper Your Way service, you may choose to submit your manuscript as a single file to be used in the refereeing process. It should contain high enough quality figures for refereeing. If you prefer to do so, you may still provide all or some of the source files at the initial submission. Please note that individual figure files larger than 10 MB must be uploaded separately.

All correspondence, including notification of the editor's decision and requests for revision, is sent by e-mail.

Submission Guidelines for Authors in English

Author's Checklist:

You can use this list to carry out a final check of your submission before you send it to the journal for review. Please check the relevant section in this Guide for Authors for more details. Ensure that the following items are present:

- 1) Please submit your manuscript as two separate Word documents: (a) one file for the main manuscript and (b) a separate title page with author information.
- 2) AJPR manuscripts are typically between 5,000 and 8,000 words of main text (excluding references, notes, abstract, tables, figures and/or appendices), and their length is evaluated as part of the review process.
- 3) All necessary files have been uploaded:
 - a) Title page that includes the following information:
 - Title of article
 - Author names and affiliations
 - E-mail and full postal addresses for ALL authors – please indicate which author is the corresponding author.
 - Any funding information
 - b) Manuscript:
 - Title of article
 - Abstract of 150–200 words covering the study purpose, research questions or hypotheses, methods, findings, and implications
 - 5–6 key words
 - All figures (include relevant captions)
 - All tables (including titles, description, footnotes)
 - Ensure all figure and table citations in the text match the files provided
 - Indicate clearly if color should be used for any figures in print
- 4) Further considerations:
 - Manuscript has been “spell checked” and “grammar checked.”
 - All references mentioned in the Reference List are cited in the text, and vice versa.
 - Permission has been obtained for use of copyrighted material from other sources (including the Internet).
 - A competing interest statement is provided, even if the authors have no competing interests to declare.
 - Journal policies detailed in this guide have been reviewed.
 - Referee suggestions and contact details provided, based on journal requirements.

Reference Formatting:

All manuscripts should be prepared in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA), 7th edition. References should be carefully edited to ensure consistency with APA guidelines. Authors are responsible for gaining permission for any copyrighted material. Authors submitting manuscripts to the journal should not simultaneously submit them to another journal, nor should manuscripts have been published elsewhere in a substantially similar form or with substantially similar content. For the policies on the research and publication ethics not stated in these instructions, international standards for editors and authors (<https://publicationethics.org/resources/resources-and-further-reading/international-standards-editors-and-authors>) can be applied.

Decision Process

The editor-in-chief, associate editor, and editorial board make every effort to review manuscripts thoroughly and promptly. Either the editor-in-chief or associate editor will determine whether the content of the manuscript is appropriate for the AJPR and whether there is sufficient publication potential to proceed with anonymous reviews. Manuscripts meriting review will be read anonymously by two qualified reviewers. In most instances, authors can expect a decision on their work within 60 days.

Copyright Transfer Agreement

Upon acceptance of an article, authors will be asked to complete a “Copyright Transfer Agreement” where they will have copyright but grant broad publishing and distribution rights to the publisher, including the right to publish the article on AJPR's online platforms (see more information on this/use the attached form). An e-mail will be sent to the corresponding author confirming receipt of the manuscript together with a “Copyright Transfer Agreement” form or a link to the online version of this agreement. The authors choose an end user license under which readers can use and share the article. Then, the publisher makes the article available online with the author’s choice of end user license.

If excerpts from other copyrighted works are included, the author(s) must obtain written permission from the copyright owners and credit the source(s) in the article. KASPR has preprinted forms for use by authors in these cases.

Copyright © 2024 by KASPR. All rights reserved. No portion of the contents may be reproduced in any form without written permission of the KASPR.

Copyright Permission: Permission requests to photocopy or otherwise reproduce copyrighted material published in this journal should be submitted by accessing the article online on the journal’s website at <http://paper.ajpr.or.kr/html/>. Permission may also be requested via email at ajppredit@gmail.com.